ALAN E. KAZDIN, Ph.D.

BRIEF BIOGRAPHY

Alan E. Kazdin is the John M. Musser Professor of Psychology and Child Psychiatry at Yale University and Director of the Yale Parenting Center, a service for children and families. He received his Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology from Northwestern University (Evanston, Illinois). Before coming to Yale, he was on the faculty of The Pennsylvania State University and the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. At Yale, he has been Chairman of the Psychology Department, Director of the Yale Child Study Center at the Yale School of Medicine, and Director of Child Psychiatric Services, Yale-New Haven Hospital. In 2008 he was President of the American Psychological Association.

Kazdin is a licensed clinical psychologist, a Diplomate of the American Board of Professional Psychology, and a Fellow of the American Psychological Association, the Association for Psychological Science, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. His honors include Research Scientist Career and MERIT Awards from the National Institute of Mental Health and Awards for Distinguished Scientific Contribution to Clinical Psychology and Distinguished Professional Contribution to Clinical Child Psychology (American Psychological Association), Outstanding Research Contribution by an Individual (Association for Advancement of Behavior Therapy), and Outstanding Lifetime Contribution to Psychology Award (American Psychological Association; Connecticut Psychological Association).

Currently, he teaches and supervises graduate and undergraduate students, conducts research, and directs a clinical service for children and families. His work focuses on child-rearing practices in everyday life and the treatment of oppositional, aggressive, and antisocial behavior among children and adolescents. He has authored or edited over 650 articles, chapters, and books. His 48 books focus on child and adolescent psychotherapy, parenting, aggressive and antisocial behavior, interpersonal violence, and methodology and research design.
